SILOX BAUHARZ 831

epoxy resin for challenging building applications
and GFK laminate

Silox Bauharz 831 is a bonding bridge and glue for wet surfaces. The formula delivers excellent adhesion on difficult surfaces and the permanent bonding of old and new concrete. The possible use as bonding bridge for subsequent coatings made of Epoxy, Polyester or Polyurethane and the ability to glue different materials – metal, plastic, natural stones – make it an universal building resin with outstanding properties. The sister material Silox Bauharz 830 comes with a higher viscosity and slower curing.
